THE PUBLIC DOMAIN.

Several weeks ago the Gezette printed some statements in regard to the rapidi'y with which the public domain was reaching exhaustion. Attention is again called to the fast by the Philadelphia Press that the eight years preceding the 1st of last January about 124,000,000 acres were settled under the homestead and timber laws, and this year and helt of 1890 will doubtless add enough to bring the total up to 150,000,000 acres.

The same writer suggests that the knowledge that the arable lands of the public domain are approaching exhaustion was doubtless one of the leading causes which contributes to the recent rush to Oklahoma. There are, it is true, millions of acres in the Rocky Mountain region and on the Pacific coast still unoccupied, but much of it is [arid, fit for nothing but pesture, or cultivable only by irrigation. The Indian reservation comprises perhaps 100,000,000 acres, but if these were all opened now they would not appease the land hunger or the country for more than five years.

What will be the result of this? The writer in the Press makes the forcible suggestion that all of this land that is cultivable will have an increased value when it is once known that fertile farme are no longer attainable in the trans-Mississippi etates an territories. It will react also upon the lands already in cultivation. They are nearer the great markets of the east and can be tilled to much more profit than the rich prairies of the west, the product of which must be taxed for the cost of the carriage which is to bring it within the reach of the consumer. As the western states and territories become more densely populated they are certain also to demand a larger share of their own crops for home consumption and have less to send elsewhere. This will compel the older states to rely more and more upon crops raised within their own limits. All these causes are certain to result during the next ten years in a steady and permanent rise in the value of farm lands in the Eastern states. farmers in the older states who sold their to be Cooney. farms during the Dakota excitement several years ago who have been benefited by the change; and hundreds of them have been made worse.

DEMOCRATIC ESTIMATES

DEMOCRATIC LEADERS. Between the New York World and the New York Sun, the two important branches of the democratic party—Cleveland and Brice—are getting some rough Landling. These democratic estimates of democratic leaders, are quite significant at this time. The World said the other day that Brice, the national chairman, was a representative of monopolies, a millionaire without conscience, and was taken as chairman of the national democratic a big check for campaign purposes. Then the Sun comes forward and with its usual vigor proceeds to give a pen por-trast of the late demogratic president: The New York democrats have tried Cleveland and do not want to have any more of him. They did not want him in 1884, but the masteriy generalship of Daniel Mauning, with Mr. Tilden's most reluctant and final consent that his great of the illness of Mrs. Rutherford E. prestige might be used, availed at last to Hayes with profound regret. Called upmake Oleveland the candidate of the party; and terribly was Daniel Manning punished for his act. Since then Cleveland may have gained in the estimate of duties so that the country was the better political cranks, aristocrats, addlepates, and adventurers; but for the democratic cause his administration did little but mischief; and the democracy would now be stronger, more united, and more eggressive if that administration had never been. His empty pretensions, his super-ficial and narrow abilities, his vast ignorance, his perpetual cant, his inconceivable self-conceit and selfishness, and his utter lack of any political principie can never recommend him to the democrats of New York. Even intelligent free-traders will not have him, for they know that immediately after his notorious free trade message he was ready and anxious to take it back, and was only prevented from doing this by the active interposition of men more in

This portrait is pretty well drawn. It quite agrees in the vigor of its execution with several drawn by the editor of the Louisville Courier Journal. Just how Mr. Cleveland expects to make a solid democratic party out of the material on hand, is difficult to understand.

If the report be true that the Masonic grand lodge of Wisconsin has placed a the Chicago & Northwestern Railway ban on liquor dealers, it has done a wise Company will sell excursion tickets to thing. The Milwaukee Journal says: "For many years, even for generations, the principles of Masonry have discouraged drunkenness and made the habit an offense against the ancient and honorable order. This rale has, however, become practically obsolete, and there are many professional drunkards in the order today, the result of a lax application of stringent precept. The new deal has come. The grand lodge has waked up, and declares that Masons shall no longer consort wih drunkards." Further, the Journal adds: "Neither the drunkerd nor the vender of spirits shall be hereafter eligible to membership in go to California without change. Free Re this ancient and honorable order. It is clining Chair Cars on all trains between contrary to the precepts of Masonry and Chicago and Kansas City. shall be the law." This was the principal work done by the Grand lodge at its | t) recent annual session. It was proposed, debated and accepted by en almost unanimous vote.

The other day the Gazette ma le anote complimenting the management of the Milwaukee postoffice under Mr. Paul's alministration. The compliment was based on what purported to be the opin-Ion of the civil service commission. But since then the commission has made a report which severely condemns the management of the Milwaukee office

The report is as follows:

"If Mr. Paul had any considerable portion of his term to serve we should recommend his immediate removal; but we have determind not to make such recommendation in view of the fact that his term has already expired, of the fact that / for the murder of Dr. Cronin. The State's no estisfactory proof has been adduced to show that his in making appointments was due to political considerations and of the further fact that his construction of a letter of the commission written in 1885, may practically excuse a portion of his missonduct. The commission therefore reported that Mr. Paul should be, and hereby is censured.

Commissioners. Mr. Paul has many friends in this state, and all of them, no matter to which party they belong, will regret his failure to make the administration of his office above criticism. He is a kindly gentleman and a fine scholar, and his mistortune may be lamented.

SENSATIONAL INFORMATION IN in Alleged Confession of Awful Im-port-A Clan-na-Gael Man Said to Have Squealed.

CHICAGO, June 25.—An afternoon paper contains the following: Camp 20 of the Clan-na-Gael and its methods will be thoroughly investigated by the grand jury, and it is more than probable that ten or more of its members will be indicted attorney has already in his possession enough evidence to hang at least half of that number, and before the grand jury resurres consideration of the Cronin case Wednesday he expects to have a complete chain of evidence encircling the camp, or at least the guilty members of it.
Shortly after the finding of the body the State's attorney received an anonymous letter which set forth the details of a meeting of camp 20, which was held on a briday in the latter part of February. John F. Beggs, the No. 1, and senior guardian of the camp, presided at this meeting, which was attended only by what is known as the inner circle of the camp, and the number for which the meeting. and the purpose for which the meeting was called was the trial of Dr. Cronin as a Pritish spy. He was found guilty, the letter went on to state, and the punishment was fixed at death. Death was always the penalty which traitors paid, and Cronin was to be no exception to the rule. The preliminaries having been disposed of, the question of who should be the executioners was taken up. Lots were drawn.

The names of every man present were put on separate slips of paper and the lottery of murder was carried out in all its details. Who were the ones to whom the fearful deed was committed was not made known at the meeting. No one knew the names of the men who were to "remove" Dr. Cronin, except the man who was to notify them that they had been selected for the act of blood and were expected to begin at once. This man, the letter went on to state, was John F. Beggs.

At once every power of the police was put forth to find the author of the letter giving information which was so valuable if true. But without success. In vain the officers sought for some one who would admit that such a meeting had been held. All were obstinate in asserting that held. All were obstinate in asserting that they never heard of such a meeting or such action by camp 20. In vain Coroner Hertz questioned every Clan-na-Gael man who was before the Coroner's jury as to the proceedings of the camp at its meetings since the 1st of January. Every one

To-day the light broke on the darkness which overcame camp 20. Detective Palmer had a long interview with Judge Longenecker early this morning, and about an hour later a flurried-looking man was admitted to the judge's office by the side door. He was a Clan-na-Gael sman, and he corroborated the contents of the letter in every detail. Who he is could not be learned, but so satisfactory was the information he gave the judge and so complete the proof of the planning and premedita-tion of the Cronin murder in camp 20, that he said an hour later: "I've got evidence enough now to hang half a dozen."

It is claimed that State's Attorney Longenecker has a list of the names of all the men who attended the secret meeting at which Dr. Cronin's removal was

This man further revealed, it is said, that the trial, condemnation, and execu-tion of Dr. Cronin was entirely in accord-ance with the usages of the clan as practiced in other cases, notably that of the informer Carey, who was tried by the same process under which Dr. Cronin

All that could be learned of the mysterious visitor to Judge Longenecker was that he was a Clan-na-Gael man, a former member of camp 20, who had been present at the meeting, but had taken no part in the deliberations, which ended in the order for Cronin's assassination. He will be carefully guarded by the police to prevent anyone from tampering with him, but he will not be arrested and no sign will be made by the officers that would indicate to the conspirators that he was under the protection of the police. There is a growing belief on the part of the authorities that Dan Coughlin was the chosen chief executioner of the tribunal's sentence, and that, knowing his fellow camp members thoroughly, it was an easy matter to select the prisoner, Burke, and the suspect, Cooney, or "Simons," and it was no hard work for him to secure the permission of O'Sullivan to the flxing of the neat job by which Dr. Cronin was lured away to the place of assassination.

Beggs Denies the Charge. Senior Guardian John F. Beggs was the latest story about camp 20 of the

"I only hope some Clan-na-Gael man is squealing," as they call it, for then I will be set right. I have been getting the worst of it all along in this case. If I have made some mistakes I have been struggling hard to get a good footing, and just when I see the light of day this thing comes upon me. Of course I am senior guardian of camp 20, but such things as they charge against that or any other camp of the Clan-na-Gael are absurd purpose. You just went to the meetings, paid 50 cents for monthly dues, heard some fellow sing a song, some other fellow make a speech, and then went home convinced that another great step had been taken in the cause of Ireland. That's all there has been to the Clan-na-Gael." "How about the alleged trial of Cronin before the 'inner circle' or Camp 20?" "It's bosh. There's no such thing as an 'inner circle.' Anybody can prefer a charge against any member of the order and the member will be tried before a committee of seven. The man charged is always notified and is given the benefit counsel. There never was any trial of Cronin in camp 20. It is true that Cooney, Burke, Coughlin, and Sullivan were members of the camp, and that three of them are behind the tars, while the other ran away from town. Two-thirds of the members of the camp were warm friends of Dr. Cronin, and I was always "Do you expect to be indicted?"

"Did you know Burke?" "Yes, and tried to get him work when winter. Because I was president of the Irish-American Republican club I was besieged by people who wanted positions and other favors. Burke was after me with information, apply to agents of Chicago the others, and that is one of the reasons & Northwestern Railway, or address E. my name is mixed up with his now."

COUGHLIN IN COURT. He and His Fellow-Suspects Arraigned and Their Cases Continued.

CHICAGO, June 25.-Ex-Detective Dan Coughlin, Frank Woodruff and P. O'Sullivan were brought before Judge Shepard this morning at the request of Assistant State's Attorney Neely to learn whether they desired to be tried this term of court. As soon as Judge Shepard asked the question Coughlin walked forward. "I wish to say, your honor," he said, "that my lawyer, Mr. Forrest is too busy to attend to my case at this term of court.

"Do you, too, desire a continuance," asked the judge, turning to O'Sullivan and Woodruff. "I am ready for trial now," said Woodam also ready," aswered Q'Sulli-

"Well, your honor, I do not think it best to separate the cases. I do not wish to continue one case and not the others,' said Mr. Neeley. "Perhaps it would be best to remand the prisoners." NO TROUBLE AT WASHINGTON.

Only the President's Signature Needed to the Burke Extradition Papars. Washington, June 24.—George A. H. Baker, of the State's attorney's office at Chicago, arrived in this city Sunday night, earing the application of the Illinois authorities for the extradition of Martin

The papers were presented to the Department of State immediately upon the esumption of business Monday morning. They have already been examined in a preliminary way and have been found to be in regular legal form. There will be no difficulty in the issuance of the extradition warrant and no delay except that caused by the absence for the day of the President whose signature is required to the warrant. When this is obtained Mr. Baker will start back for Chicago and will proceed thence to Winnipeg.

Mr. Baker says that the State depart ment officials have smoothed his way and done everything to facilitate the transaction of his business. He seemed to be rather mistrustful of legal delays in the Canadian courts, where he believes justices are inclined to go further than a mere inquiry into the legal form of the extradition warrant and its compliance with treaty stipulations. It is said that they undertake to go into the merits of cases.

LATER—On the arrival of the President the papers were at once signed and only await the signature of Secretary Blaine.

NOT COONEY AFTER ALL.

The Frankfort, Ind., Suspect Proves to Be a Man Named Patrick Donahue. FRANKFORT, Ind., June 25.—Capt. Schuettler and Frank Scanlon arrived here at 6:15 a. m. from Chicago, and Mr. Scanlon at once decided that the suspect arrested at this place was not Cooney. He admitted, however, that the resemblance was striking. The man turns out to be Patrick Dona hue of Green Castle, Ind. He is an intelligent Irishman and a member of the Land league, but not of the Clan-na-Gael. He is an enthusiastic Liberal and a strong admirer of Dr. Cronin, whom he claims to have met frequently. Donahue freely admits that the local officers were justified in the arrest and that he tallies with the descriptions given and the photographs sent out from Chicago. He is engaged in selling patent medicines on the streets, has a good education, is a fluent talker, and has a dignified military bearing Upon the failure of the Chicago officers to identify him he was immediately released He then left for points west.

NEW YORK, June 25.—The Manhattan Brass company, the largest manufacturers of brass goods in the city, was completely burned out early this morning, and their factory on First avenue and Twenty-seventh and Twenty-eighth streets entirely destroyed. The loss on building and stock is estimated to be nearly $300,000, divided as follows: $150,000 on tools and machinery, $75,000 on stock and $75,000 on building, all of which is fully covered by insurance. The exact cause of the fire has not been accurately determined, but is supposed to have originated from an over-THE carelessness of a servant in lighting kerosene stove caused the deeth at Kansas City, Mo., Monday of a 5-year-old boy, and the fatal burning of his mother. RACINE, Wis., June 23.—Crop reports to the J. I. Case Thrashing Machine company from 400 points in Northwestern and central States show a good average in the present condition of the growing crops. Nearly all the localities east of the Mississiphic and the condition of the mississiphic and the mississiphic and the condition of the condition of the mississiphic and the condition of the conditi sippi show an excess of fain-fall with a deficiency of temperature. In portions of the Northwest and as far north as southern Dakota crops of all kinds are suffering from want of moisture, amounting, in some places, to a total destruction of the crop of general grains. Kansas and Nebraska give the best reports and the corn yield in those States will be very large. Harvest is now in progress in Kansas and in the southern portion wheat is largely secured. Missouri and Ohio do not furnish a sufficient number of reports to base an estimate on. As far as heard from the crop of small grain in Missouri is fair. Ohio promises a fair crop of wheat and oats but corn is poor. Twenty-nine places in Wisconsin show for wheat, oats, and rye as follows: Nineteen are good, nine fair, and one poor; corn, eleven fair and seventeen poor.

sumption and other popular preparations. Dr. Acker practised in his younger days among the middle classes of London, and was the means of doing great good, but his health failed and he found himself in the grasp of consumption, with a wife and child depending upon him for support. While in this condition, he discovered the celebrated English Remedy, saved his own life and has since saved the lives of thousands who were on the sure road to death. Any man or woman who feels a tickling in the throat, who coughs, especially in the morning, who raises or has a tight feeling across the chest, who has sharp abooting pains through the lungs or difficulty in breathing, should realize that these are the first symptoms of consumption which, if neglected, are sure to result fatally. Dr. Acker's English Remedy has cured more than one thousand persons who unquestionably had consumption and who were given up by their friends. It merits its popularity and is sold by reputable druggists in every city and town in America. You can't afford to be without it.

JAKE KILRAIN. History of the Man Who Has Challenged John L. Sullivan---Raceland, Under Garrison, Wins the Sheepshead Bay Handicap---Notes of the Sports.

Much praise is due Jake Kilrain for his battle to reach the top notch of professional pugilism. A large part of his success is due to his gentlemanly behavior and courteous manner. Besides, he has the happy faculty of keeping the friendship of people others boarded the steamer, where Mr. after having formed it. Jake was 30 years old Feb. 9 last, having made his advent at Greenport, Columbia county, N. Y. He stands 5 feet 101 inches in height, has a chest devolopment of 42 inches, measures 16 inches around the biceps; forearm 14 inches; waist 34 inches; thigh 25 inches; calf of leg 17 inches. When in condition the young man weighs 220 ton, and was given employment in the Somerville rolling mill. He soon developed a love for athletic sports, starting in first kindly eye for the manly art. Gawky his appearance and spare of flesh, the lad bright June morning he unmercifully flogged a bulldozing rowdy who worked in the same establishment with him and was in the habit of bullying his companions. This enthusiastic young man has always been a great admirer of George Hosmer, the Boston oarsman, as well as of Fred Plaisted and "Frenchy" Johnson, two notable professional scullers. It was because of his attachment for these men that he took to rowing. In the summer of 1882 he won several races with the spoons, and then George Hosmer took him in hand and gave him a beautiful finish to his After rowing in a four-oared crew that came out victorious in another amateur event at Lake Weldron, Kilrain turned his eyes toward the national association cham-pionships of 1983, which were rowed on the Passaic river course at Newark, N. J. He won the junior, but his eligibility was challenged and the challenge was sustained by Henry W. Garfield, the then and present president of the National Rowing association, for upon investigation it was proved that Jake had for over two years and six months previous been a professional pugilist. Nothing was left Jacob in order to retain his rowing prestige but to turn professional outright, and as a mem-ber of the Charles River four he won considerable money.

courageous, challenged Jake, and through Jim Keenan of Boston, lasely deceased, the fight was brought about. It was a long and desperate battle, and it was by good generalship on Kilrain's part that he pulled In the spring of 1884, Capt. Cook, managing editor of the Police Illustrated News, took a fancy to Kilrain, who had launched out as a professional fighter of high order, and brought about the contest between Harry Allen and Kilrain. Betting was in Allen's favor, but Harry was knocked about from the moment time was called like a cockle shell in a seaway, and the fight was stopped.

Chelsea, Mass., was Jacob's next victim. They were to fight six rounds but after standing up for three three-minute rounds Godfrey threw up both hands and declared he had enough. After he had fought a draw with Jack Goode, Jake's friends matchel him against Charley Mitchell. This contest also ended in a draw after four rounds. This was Jake's first fight with a celebrity, and, like Billy Myer in his contest with Mc. Auliffe, he was content with fighting entirely on the defensive. The result of this Remarkable Find of Gold-Bearing meeting naturally gave Kilrain and his friends confidence.

The season of 1885-6 was the beginning of Kilrain's bright career. The Harvard tudents arranged a conflict between him and William Sheriff, the Prussian. The Prussian was carried insensible from the ing after two rounds. George Fryer, the Englishman, succeeded in fighting Kilrain to a draw. CAPT. MURRELL KNICHTED. The Heroic Captain of the Danmark Honored by the Danish Ring.
BALTIMORE, thid., June 25.—Harold ackson, the Danish consul here, and Jackson presented to Capt. Hamilton Murrell, the hero of the Danmark rescue, the insignia of the knighthood of the order of Dannebrog in these words:

"His majesty the King of Danmark commands me to represent on this occasion and present to you the insignia of knighthood of the order of Dannebrog. His majesty also desires me to convey to you his most gracious thanks for your noble Capt. Murrell mentioned that while in London Lord Salisbury, in a communica-tion to him relative to this matter, said that the British crown would not grant permission to him to wear the insignia, but, by way of postscript, he added that there was, however, no penalty.

ROBBED IN BROAD DAYLIGHT. Three Men Capture All the Funds of Telluride, Col., Bank.

TELLURIDE, Col., June 25.-About 10 o'clock this morning, while the book-keeper of the San Miguel Vailey bank was alone in the bank, three men entered, and, presenting pistols at his head, demanded the funds of the institution. After securing the lank funds they joined a fourth robber, who was holding their horses just outside the bank. They left town on the run, firing shots in the air to frighten citizens. It is not yet known just what amount they secured; probably only a few thousands. They are heading for the Arizona line, with several sheriff's parties in close pursuit, and unless they have a change of horses it is more than probable that they will be captured before twenty-

The Shooting of the White Man the Re sult of a Drunken Row. WASHINGTON, Jnne 24.—The official report of the recent outbreak among the Chippewa Indians was received at the War Department to-day. The report is from Capt. Hannay, and is as follows: "The shooting of the white man by the Indians was the result of a drunken row. The three families who left the neighborhood of the Indian camp were Swedes and new arrivals, and were frightened off by the drunken Indians. The Indians will deliver up the buck who did the shooting

The cartridges are about eight inches long, and if they had been exploded the entire university building would have been destroyed and serious loss of life would have been caused. Efforts are being made to discover the persons engaged in the plot to destroy the college, but with little hope of success.

Washington, June 25.—Gabriel Renville, chief of the Sisseton and Wahpeton Indians in Dakota, accompanied by an interpreter, called on Acting Commissioner Belt of the Indian bureau to-day to ure the settlement of the back annuities due these tribes since 1862, amounting to between $300,000 and $100,000 and also urge that some action be taken relative to the purchase of their surplus lands, aggregating about 900,000 acres. Kilrain's first fight of any note was late in the fall of 1879, when he met Jack Daly, whom he put to sleep in two rounds. Jake was now a tall, handsome fellow, of magnificent physique and engaging manners. Jem Driscoll was his next victim, and then Dan Dwyer was bested. Shortly afterward Dennis Roach, a rapid twohanded fighter, strong as an ox, and very SCIAL FEBTIVITY.

VERY PLEASANT TIME BY MEMBERS AND FRIENDS OF THE FIRST M. E CHURCH The residence of iRev. and Mrs. M Evans, 256 Ravine street, was crowded to overflowing last evening. Suspended from trees on the lawn were many Chinese lanterns lighting up the whole vicinity, and giving the grounds a very inviting appearance.

Within everything was cheerful and gay. An excellent programme had been prepared and everybody went prepared to have a general good time. The exercises began with a song "Bringing in the Sheaves," in which all heartily joined, and it made the whole house and neighborhood ring with music. This was followed by a prayer by Rev. M. Evans.

The instrumental duet by Misses Edith Arnold and Addie Cousins was well rendered and heartily applauded by all. Mr. Miller's reading was well received. Both dectors conducted the autopsy held This gentleman has an excellent voice and handles it in a manner entirely sat-

A recitation by Miss Annie Cochran was well received. Also the solo by Mr. George Slawson. The reading by Mrs. Equires was good and heartily appreciated.

The next number was a duet by Charles Carlson and Minnie Matthews which was excellently rendered. This was followed by a recitation by

We call especial attention of those reporters who have styled us as "know nothings" and "anti-Cathol.cs" to article 5, in which "we cordially welcome all foreigners who come to this country with the honest desire of becoming loyal American citizens," and we quote from our official expose: "We have no quarrel with any man on account of nationality or religion, but we wish to accord equal ustice to all American citizens.'

The article from the address of our na tional president, so extensively quoted, requires no spology, and this order in national convention assembled unhesitatingly declares that there is no room in this republican government for any organization, under whatsoever name, and assassination, and we believe that every intelligent citizen, native or foreign born, who has read the evidence presented to the coroner's jury of Chicago relative to the Cronin murder has felt this to be true, and that their existence is a constant menace to our government. The badge incident so sensationally characterized as a "Burchardisa" is a misrepresentation. The reception by the president was cordial and gratifying to the members of this order, and the fact that he has promised, if in the city, to review our parade on Friday is levidence that no ill-feeling has been generated

HE OUGHT TO MOVE WEST A New Field Opened for Janesville's City Marshal.

WHERE HE WOULD SHINE

Something of the Changes Tha Time Has Made In Montana Life and Manners.

LIVINGSTONE M. T., June 23.-Marshal Hogan ought to move west. Not that Janesville's peace preserver needs to "grow up with the country. "He would probably call such an idea as that sareasm. But the western police ought to have a chance to see what a star was intended to adorn. The Bower City man would cause western policemen's eyes to open with a snap. Dakota and Minnesots peace-guardians attract attention at first sight even from the mildly disposed. Apparently their chief duty is to standet the depot when trains come in and look colemn. When a man wants something attended to right away he doesn't go over by the postoffice to hunt up the marshal. He picks up a club and goes and attends to the thing himself. Consequently 'grass-widow guardianship" over the one daily train remains the policeman's chief duty.

The consequence of all this is that the "husky" deputy sheriff of earlier days has grown scarce. In his place is chosen -that is, to judge from sppearancesthe man who will be of the least use in any other way. But as he loses in stature he gains in splendor of apparel. Solomon, in all his glory, never wore a blue militia helmet, with a brass spike, balf as gracefully as did the weary-looking youth who represented the law at a town the conclusion of the exercises a general near Mandan. Nor did Solomon ever fight so persistently with a uniform coat the tail of which insisted on crawling up towards the shoulder blades.

> On the train from St. Paul, western police regulation were considerably discussed. Part was taken by a stock raiser who makes Janesville for a part of each an active worker in educational matters, can do to hasten such a day and to give year his purchasing teadquarters-K. N.

"I've been in the stock business since 1880," remarked Mr. Whistler, "and I find that violence out here is practically done away with. Each man learns that if he wants his rights respected he must Lodge, of which Mr. Mowe was respect others: Of course if he doesn't there are means to make him ; but it mey be safely said that the days of violence are over."

outside the town. A run from the depot showed Mr. Whistler tieing the legs of a tough looking man into a hard knot with a lasso; while several excited men with smoking revolvers were waiting the proper moment to escort the stranger to the edge of the township. "Ob, this doesn't amount to anything," explained Mr. Whistler smilingly as he

He just barricaded the house, that was all, and the boys got him out with their pepperboxes. It wouldn't do at all to leave claim-jamping for settlement in court There would be claims jumped every

And the stock-raiser turned away satissed that the peaceful reputation of Montana had been fully upheld.

As to the doing away of cow boy rule however, Mr. Whistler was undoubtedly right. The typical cow-boy in this year of our Lord 1889 is not easy to find. The yearly "round-up," where cattle are driven in from the ranges and sorted out according to brands, is just ending, and even here, where three or four ranches unite in each spot, a half dozen full fledged, "rough riders," would be hard to pick out. "Almost any man who can 'sit' cn horse can learn to throw a rope well enough in half a day, "remarked a Miles City stock man, and with a Mexican of two to handle the tougher work we get along very well. A good deal of the talk about the skill required in handling a 'rope' is bosh. It's really easier to rope an animal in motion than it is to lasso a stairway post, and almost any American boy who eyer read a 'wild west' story can do that.' But you don't want to get any boys from Wisconsin out here on that account though, for I am afraid they would find the life a little bit

MILES DORAN. After suffering from a complication of diseases for upwards of two years, death came to the relief of Miles Doran at seven o'clock last evening. The mediate cause of his death was paralysis of the stomach softening of the brain. About two years ago failing health compelled him to give up his business, that of merchant tailoring, since which time he has been confined to his home at 252 North Bluff

OBITUARY.

Mr. Miles Doran was born in County Wexford, Ireland, in 1836, and was years old the 6th of last March. He came to America in in 1853, residing New York state for several years, and coming to Janesville in Here he resided until his death with the exception of three years Kansas City and Denver. By occupation he was a tailor, and for many years conducted a merchant tailoring establishment. He was a kird hearted man, and he drew about him many sincere friends who will extend the kindliest sympathy to the tereaved household Besides his wife he leaves a family of four children, Misses Anna and Ellen Doran, John Doran, and Mrs. Mary Finley, to mourn his death.

The funeral will be held from St. Mary's church at 9:3) o'clock to-morrow morning, and the interment will be at Monnt Olivet cemetery. JAMES MOWE.

THE AMERICAN SCHOLAR. Opportunities for the highest tasks of cholarship, were, perhaps, never so rare as to-day. The world does not want and is to ignorant to perceive that it needs the services of men who can give to learning its highest place, and make the class-room and the study the fount from which shall spring the pure stream of original thought and profound specustion. "Away with these dreamers," it cries, "and give us a serviceable culture." And so we see every day of our lives the finest gifts harnessed to some sordid drudgery and plodding its mechanical round because it can be made to pay. But may we not hope that a brighter day is coming--a day in which scholarship shall have its true place and be lifted to its rightful sovereignty? There lives the story of a slave in a French galley, who was one morning bending wearily over his oer, just as the day was breaking, revealing, as the sun rose out of the gray waters. a line of cliffs, the white house of a town, and a church tower. The rower was a man unused to such service, worn with toil and watching, and likely, it was thought, to die. A companion touched him, pointed to the shore, and asked him if he knew it. "Yes, he answered." I know it well. I see the steeple of that place where God opened my mouth in public to his glory, and I know that how weak soever I now appear, I shall not depart out of this life till my tongue glority his name in that same place." Those white cliffs were the white cliffs of Scotland, and the speaker was John Knox, and we know that his prophecy was fulfilled. And so I know-for I believe in the nobler aspirations and the loftier possibilities of this greatland and race of ours-that the time will come when the American scholar will ascend white men on the Chippewa river, and to his true place, and when, released from the toil of the galley slave, he shall
